ABOUT

Eric is a Principal with Hera Environmental focusing on government relations and environmental strategy. In representing the interests of his clients, Eric draws on 30 years of experience with the Georgia EPD (the last 13 served as Manager of the Air Permitting Program). During his tenure at the EPD, he managed a staff of over 40 engineers, set critical regulatory/implementation policy, developed GA Air Quality Rules, conducted public hearings on permit applications, and served as the EPD's liaison to GA Economic Development. With Eric's background, he is ideal to help companies navigate the intricacies of federal, state and local government environmental regulations.
